

The DROP Payment

You can take distribution of your DROP payment in any of four ways:

- A lump-sum payment
- A monthly annuity
- A rollover to an approved employer-sponsored retirement plan
- A rollover to an IRA

You can combine these methods however you choose. For example, you could take half of your DROP balance as a lump-sum payment and roll the other half into an IRA or qualified retirement plan. It's up to you. You may want to meet with a retirement counselor to help determine which method or combination of methods works best for you.

On lump sum payments, APERS withholds 20% for federal taxes and 5% for state taxes. Lump sum payments for members under age 55 may be subject to early withdrawal penalties. We suggest you meet with a financial planner or tax professional to discuss personal tax obligations.

Deferred Retirement Option Plan

The Deferred Retirement Option Plan (DROP)

The Deferred Retirement Option Plan (DROP) is one of the retirement options available to those who are eligible. If you have at least 28 years of actual service, you can participate in the DROP. (Service in a reciprocal system can be counted toward the 28 actual years of service.)

In the DROP, your retirement benefit is computed as if you retired on the date of DROP participation and you may continue to work for a maximum of 7 years while a percentage of your chosen benefit is deposited into an account that accrues interest.

Once you have been enrolled at least 12 months, every July 1st you will receive a cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) on your DROP and retirement benefit.

Working While Enrolled In The DROP

You must work 80 hours or more each month to stay in the DROP (public school DROP participants are the exception – they must work at least ½ of the hours required for their position). You may change jobs and remain in the DROP if there is no break in service. You must notify APERS in advance of any changes in employment.

“You must work 80 hours or more each month to stay in the DROP ...”

Retiring From The DROP

You must terminate covered employment within 7 years of the effective date of DROP or you will forfeit the balance in your DROP account. There is no minimum participation period. When you exit the DROP, you must file your retirement application and DROP distribution forms (remember you must meet filing deadlines).

The retirement option you chose when you entered the DROP is the same one you elect when you retire unless there has been a change in marital status. If you die while in the DROP, your DROP balance is paid to your beneficiary.

Returning To Work After DROP Participation

“All prior restrictions to returning to work for DROP participants have been removed as of January 1, 2018.”

All prior restrictions to returning to work for DROP participants have been removed as of January 1, 2018. DROP participants are now subject to the same restrictions as regular retirees. When members exit the DROP and enter retirement they must observe all termination requirements before returning to work for a participating employer. DROP participants returning to work cannot re-enter the retirement system, earn service credit, or increase their benefits.

Active Military Duty

If you are called to active duty while participating in the DROP, you should contact APERS in writing to explain your specific circumstances and provide APERS a copy of your orders at the onset of active duty as well as at the end of the tour of duty.

Computing The DROP Benefit

Your DROP benefit will be computed based on the number of years of service you have accrued prior to enrolling in the DROP.

If you have 28 years of service, the DROP benefit amount is 63% of your elected benefit.

For each month of service over 28 years of service The DROP benefit amount is 63% plus ½ of 1%, up to the maximum of 75% for 30 or more years of service.

Interest On The DROP Account

The APERS Board of Trustees reviews the current interest rate every February for any recommended changes to become effective July 1st. The Board may adjust the rate of interest if it deems it necessary to maintain actuarial appropriateness.

If a participant does not have contributions to his or her account for all twelve months during the fiscal year, then the interest shall be pro-rated based on the number of months of participation and the balance for those months.
